County dumps sand at Hogpen

EDWARDSVILLE — Put the "Hogpen" fire out, the Madison County Board said Wednesday.

Employees of the county's Environmental Control Department responded Friday by dumping truckloads of sand at Hogpen, the smoldering site of a fire that began Monday.

Hogpen is an illegal dump that doubles as a hog farm for area residents.

At the site Friday, department member Tom Hawkins pointed down from his place on the newly laid sand to a gully containing several drums. He said the drums may hold hazardous liquids. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency advised the county to leave the containers intact so that an investigation can be made.

The fire, which began Monday, received areawide media attention. At the County Board meeting Wednesday, member William R. Haine, called the fire an embarrassment to the county.

The dump is not within any fire protection district and leaders of nearby fire departments said they were not trained or equipped to fight it, nor was the fire their responsibility.

Haine called the fire "a tremendous eyesore and a pollutant for the people in the area."

The board adopted Haine's

State's attorney investigating fire

By Mike Myers

GRANITE CITY — The Madison County state's attorney's office is investigating to determine if criminal charges should be filed as a result of the "Hogpen" fire near Eagle Park.

"We want to find the owner and find out who's been dumping there," State's Attorney Dick Allen said Friday. "We want to know if people are dumping there with the owner's permission or if it is just a historical dumping place."

"There are some places where people dump late at night and it's almost impossible to catch them. This may be one of those places. But I remember a couple of years ago being down at Eagle Park on another matter and there was some old guy who owned land and allowed people to dump there to make money."

"I haven't been there (to the fire) but if it's in the place I think it is then I know periodically when I go by stuff is burning. It appears it's going to be a nuisance, especially with summer coming along."

Allen said his office is checking the possibility of illegal dumping. He also said the state's attorney's office will assist if the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency needs help to investigate the site.

A regional spokesman for the IEPA in Collinsville said there were reports of violations at the site, including open dumping and open fires.

er use of the landfill fund. He said there were administrative ways to take care of the problem.

Worthen and Paul Hawkins, environmental control director, said the county and the IEPA want the area cleaned.

The dump is in the southwest corner of the county, near the intersection of Eagle Park Road and Illinois 203.

Truck stop death baffling

By Andy Stiering
Staff writer

MADISON — The case of an unidentified black man found dead in the bloody cab of a tractor-trailer Thursday has police baffled.

"Nothing about this makes any sense at this point. The scene is not what you would normally expect," Madison Police Lt. Paul Bargiel said Friday, but declined to elaborate.

The dead man, who remained unidentified Saturday, was found in the passenger's seat of a truck parked at the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza on Illinois 203. The truck had California registration.

Police said the man was 5 feet 11 inches and 40 to 45 years old.

Police Chief Charlie Bridick said the man had a laceration on the left arm. Bargiel said the deep wound did not appear self-inflicted or to be the cause of death, which is unknown.

The St. Clair County coroner ordered the autopsy that was performed Friday. Results are not expected for at least a week, Bargiel said.

A California driver license found in the truck described a 5-foot-9-inch man, which is two inches shorter than the dead man, Bargiel said.

"If it was two inches more, I could believe it," Bargiel said, "but not two inches less. Most men won't say they're shorter than they really are."

Bargiel said the picture on the license was not clear enough to establish it belonged to the dead man. Police are trying to identify the body through fingerprint records.

Investigators have no suspects, but are searching for an unidentified woman who found the body about 6:30 p.m. Thursday. She left the scene before police arrived, Bargiel said.

Police reports show prostitutes frequent the truck stop area, and petty thefts from truck drivers are reported there often.

Diak's day in court delayed

By Mike Myers

EDWARDSVILLE — Patrolman George Diak Jr. will not face a hearing before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners before June 7, a preliminary injunction to that effect was granted Thursday to Greg Becker, Diak's attorney.

The ruling was handed down by Chief Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson in Madison County Circuit Court.

On the same day, Becker filed for an enforcement order requiring Granite City to honor a settlement allegedly reached with Assistant City Attorney John Hopkins on May 5.

The reported settlement called for Diak to receive a 90-day unpaid suspension and required him to undergo psychiatric evaluation.

Mayor Von Dee Cruise and

Police Chief Robert Astorian have said no one was authorized to finalize such a settlement on behalf of the city government.

Diak was suspended without pay April 14 for an alleged unauthorized trip to Jersey County. His suspension came pending a hearing before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners on May 9.

Village wants water service to reach I-255

PONTIAC BEACH — Alleged lack of cooperation from Illinois-American Water Co. may result in the village having 1,600 feet of water pipe installed by Nameoki Township — with water purchased for the new line from another source — village officials are asserting.

But the water company said Friday it is cooperating and that it wants to help arrange for the line to be installed.

The village has been trying to reach agreement with Illinois-American for more than 15 months. Village Attorney Keith Jensen said. The village wants an additional 1,600 feet of line along Illinois 162, extending water service to both sides of the new Interstate 255 interchange.

Immediate users of a new water line would be eight homes along 162. The water proposal has prompted discussions at several board meetings.

The residences needing service are located east of the St. Louis area, and east of the existing water line, which turns south toward the Arlington Heights area prior to reaching the eight

GRANITE CITY — A message of love from the St. Louis Ambassadors crossed the Mississippi River to find 7-year-old Jason Robertson Thursday. Ambassadors Secretary Bill things at him and his mother, Tammy Robertson, 26.

"What I've seen on television is one of the most cruel things I've ever seen," Lill said.

"Seeing the protesters upset Lill, he said, because the individuals had no regard for the damage they might be doing to a 7-year-old child. Lill said he did not want Jason growing up believing adults are mean."

Lill said he understood few people had protested, but did not excuse them.

"If one or a hundred, these were cruel people," Lill said. "They're short on facts, that's what I'm saying. I understand what they're doing, they're trying to protect their kids, but it's the wrong way to do it."

In addition to a medal signifying Jason's unique status as Minor Ambassador, Lill gave him a steel model of the Arch on a marble base. The model is usually presented to dignitaries visiting St. Louis.

"This is the Ambassadors' way of saying we love him," Lill said.

Jason looked at the model and read his name on the base. "They spelled my name right," he said.

Sunday focus

Lill, 62, came here to say thousands of adults love Jason.

"There are a lot of people who love you," Lill, of Barnhardt, Mo., told Jason while standing in the front yard of the Robertsons' home on Ohio Avenue in West Granite City.

While honoring Jason by making him the first "Minor Ambassador" of the St. Louis Ambassadors, a misty-eyed Lill lifted, hugged and kissed the boy. Jason has AIDS-related complications.

Lill said the idea to honor Jason came after seeing media coverage of how less than a dozen adults reacted May 5 to news that Jason would attend Prather Elementary School. Sign-carrying protesters greeted Jason on his first day of school and shouted hurtful

'White collar' contract goes to federal mediation Monday

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city's "white collar" office and clerical workers and the City Council negotiating committee will take their cases for a new contract before a federal mediator at 7 p.m. Monday.

Lacretia Wright, president of Local 3405 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said the union was asking for longevity pay increases which, she said, all other city employees already have.

"Brett Hanke, chairman of the negotiation committee, came back and said he had good news and bad news," Wright said.

"He said we could have our longevity, but it would cost us 2 percent. It's not fair. We don't think we should have to pay for something when nobody else has to."

Hanke said the move to mediation was a joint one, but that he is unwilling to publicly discuss the issues involved. He said he had promised not to go to the press as long as negotiations were still going on, and that he had agreed not to discuss matters being discussed in negotiations.

The union set up an informational picket line outside the City Hall before, and during, the last City Council meeting. "It was an informational picket," Wright said. "We did not ask anyone not to cross it."

Aldermen Lloyd Bailey, Sharon Perjak, Jeff Worthen and Emerald Daves, Superintendent of Streets, Bascuit Co. Fire Chief Joe Holder, Police Chief Bob Astorian and City Treasurer Gail Valle refused to cross.

"Hanke is not negotiating in good faith," Wright said. "We're in a state of shock. At

Costello will run in special election

SPRINGFIELD — St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, winner of the March 15 Democratic primary for Congress, filed Monday to run in a special election for Congress.

The special election became necessary when 21st District Rep. Melvin Price died April 22. The special election is set for Aug. 9, with the possibility of a primary election July 12.

Costello filed first and will be first on the ballot if a Democratic primary is held. He submitted more than 6,000 signatures on his petitions, nearly 10 times the 625 required.

Costello said the election picture will not clear until the filing period ends at 5 p.m. Monday, May 23, and the withdrawal period ends May 26.

In March, Costello won the Democratic Party's nomination over three opponents. He took 54 of 68 townships (82 percent) and 351 of 470 precincts (75 percent) in the district. Voters will decide Aug. 9 who should fill Price's unexpired term. Another election Nov. 8 will be held to fill a two-year term.

Costello has been elected board chairman in St. Clair three times and has held that position since 1980. He also heads the regional council of governments as chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Those running for the special term include Robert Gaffner, Greenville, who won the Republican nomination and is backed by the Republican National Committee.

Vice President George Bush, at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner on March 10 in Bethalto, endorsed Gaffner for the 21st District Congressional seat.

"He's finally going to replace Mel Price in Congress," Bush said.

Events this week, include:
Granite City Night at Busch Stadium, May 23.

Stephens honors veterans with words, with actions

State Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Troy, a Granite City businessman, has lit a candle in remembrance of one of the 2,932 Illinois Vietnam war veterans who died in service or are missing in action.

Their names are inscribed on the newly-dedicated Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Springfield.

Stephens, a Vietnam veteran, was assisted by his daughter, Molly, his son, Todd, and a member of the Patriots.

Stephens said the Patriots were formed in 1982 to keep alive interest in Illinois prisoners of war (POWs) and missing in action (MIAs) still in Vietnam. The group, founded in Mattoon, is an offshoot of the American Legion but does not limit membership to American Legion members.

The candlelight ceremony was part of dedication ceremonies for the memorial held May 6-8 in Springfield.

Recognizing the efforts made by Vietnam veterans in service to their country, Rep. Stephens has sponsored two measures to ensure that their interests are served. The measures were introduced to coincide with the official dedication of the memorial.

House Resolution 1333 would establish the Illinois House Vietnam Veterans' Caucus, a bi-partisan group comprised of House members who served in Vietnam, while House Resolution 1339 recognizes the efforts of those instrumental in getting the memorial built.

Stephens said the caucus members would better understand the concerns of Vietnam veterans and could work together to help meet those concerns.

"The creation of a bi-partisan caucus made up of Vietnam veterans, the dedication of the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the events surrounding the dedication hold a very special place in my heart," said Stephens, who was awarded a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart for his Vietnam service.

"Many individuals were instrumental in creating and guiding the Memorial project and I believe it's necessary to commend them for their efforts," Stephens said. "Without their skills, determination and faith in the project, the memorial to the almost 3,000 servicemen who died or are still missing in southeast Asia wouldn't have been built."

"Without their courage, thousands of people wouldn't have converged on Springfield, veterans wouldn't have been reunited and there would have been no visible tribute to the bravery displayed by our fellow citizens in Vietnam."

Stephens attended the Friday evening, May 6, candle service and the dedication the following afternoon.

The Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial has five black granite walls and five interior court-yards, representing five branches of the armed forces.

An eternal flame burns at the top of grey granite walls where the court-yards come together. Names of the 2,932 servicemen who died or are still missing are inscribed on the five sloping walls of black granite.

Stephens is the owner of Freedom Pharmacy, Granite City.

Chamber teams offer help to existing firms

During late May and early June, representatives of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, city governments and the business community will begin the first phase of the Tri-Cities Area Industrial Retention Program.

"This local effort was developed in response to realization that retention and expansion of our existing employers is vital to our present well-being and essential if we are to experience real growth," R.C. Bush, Chamber executive vice president, said.

In explaining the program, Bush said most local and regional economic development efforts have centered on attracting new business and industry.

"Although this is important to the future of the Quad City area, it has been noted that 65 percent to 80 percent of new job creation comes from businesses that are already in the area," Bush said. "Therefore, it behooves us to give careful attention to the needs of existing industry."

"The first phase of the retention effort will include visits to area manufacturing employers in an effort to familiarize them with local, state and federal assistance programs."

"The programs are designed to maintain or improve profitability and include job training, management assistance, fixed asset financing and public works improvements.

"Call teams visiting area employers will include a representative from local government, a local business person and an economic development professional."

"One of the exciting features of the program is that it offers the opportunity for different groups to come together and work toward a common goal — the economic health of the Quad City area," Bush said. "Fifty two individuals will be involved in the program."

"Other objectives of the visitation program will include:

"Establish contact and lines of communication with local chief executive officers; provide initial information to the CEOs on existing support programs open to them (local, state and federal); identify immediate needs (problems), especially those that might benefit from local, regional and state attention; and provide information on the area, region and state."

"In general, we want to send a signal to the chief executive officers and, through them, to management that the community is concerned about the firms' economic health."

"We want to make them aware that the key contact through which the businessman can begin a search for assistance is the executive at the Chamber office," Bush said.

Park District plans Indiana weekend

The Granite City Park District is offering a three-day weekend trip to Indianapolis and the Brown County area of Indiana on June 17, 18 and 19.

Arrangements have been made to stay at the Hyatt Hotel in downtown Indianapolis.

Side trips will be taken to such places as the Children's Museum, Indianapolis Motor Speedway, new Indianapolis Zoo and Union Station, plus a tour of the town.

Saturday, June 18, will include a short trip to Brown County, where there will be several hours for browsing in Nashville, Ind., a town known for many shops and crafts. A pig roast with all the trimmings will be served at poolside at the Brown County Inn that night.

The group will visit White River Park and the Zoo on Sunday, June 19. The bus will stop at a Fosteria-crystal-outlet-store enroute home.

Reservations may be made at the Wilson Park Office beginning at 8 a.m. Wednesday, May 25. One person can make no more than four reservations and all fees must be paid at that time. Non-residents will be placed on a waiting list.

Cost of the trip will be $170 for a single; $114 for two to a room; $95 for three to a room; and $86 for four to a room.

The fees include the bus fares, hotel cost, tour of Indianapolis, pig roast and entrance to the zoo.

Red Cross handicapped swim program to begin

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct an instructional swimming program for the physically handicapped June 6 through July 1.

The purpose of the adapted aquatics program is to teach the physically handicapped to swim or to improve current swimming skills, and to use this medium to provide the participants with a freedom and mobility they are otherwise denied.

"The program enhances the physical well-being and outlook of the participants," said Joanne Higgins, program director.

The handicapped swim program is available free of charge to any qualifying individual in the Quad City area. It will be conducted at a private swimming facility in Granite City.

Registration is limited and is Recruiting is also under way for individuals who wish to assist as aides for the program. "Each year, we have volunteers from all walks of life — high school and college students, grandparents and retirees," Higgins said.

Minimum age for volunteers is 15; there is no maximum age.

In addition to the staff, qualified volunteer lifeguards will be in constant attendance. Training for volunteers will be held June 2-4.

Those wishing to participate in the program as volunteers or swimming students may contact the local Red Cross office at 452-7184.

Local veterans keeping vigil at state's Vietnam Memorial

By Heien M. Robinson
Staff affiliate

SPRINGFIELD — They laughed. They cried. They reminisced.

The Metro East POW/MIA Vigil Team that trekked here for the dedication of the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Memorial had a singular purpose: To stand guard at the memorial built by the men, women and children of soldiers who died or are still missing.

The official ceremony, held May 7 in Oak Ridge Cemetery, attracted more than 35,000 people to see the marble walls etched with the names of more than 3,000 Illinoisans who died or are still missing.

It's been more than 15 years since the United States pulled out of Southeast Asia and the Vietnam war.

But members of the vigil team, based in Granite City, take their weekends to stand watch in hopes that someday the rest of the servicemen who still are either prisoners of war or missing in action will come home.

Today, corporate security guard Larry Majeski of Belleville, automotive technician Dave Hays of Madison, Illinois State Police trooper Steve Junk of New Athens, truck driver Phil Marlin of Granite City, car salesman Lester White of Madison, Army Sgt. Carl Straton of Granite City and truck driver Richard Spiker of Edwardsville make up the vigil team.

These men have put the horrors of the war that changed their lives behind them. They all have stories of fear and frustration, but they don't feel the need to dwell on the past.

"It boils down to a war that really isn't over," Junk said. "We don't want anyone to cry for us. We just want people to realize that there are still soldiers over there. The war isn't over until the last soldier is home."

It is midnight May 6. The clear sky gives way to a breeze. The temperature is dropping, but the vigil team doesn't seem to notice the relative chill. The men, their wives and some of their children will participate in the vigil tonight.

The team members start the quarter-mile walk from their hotel to the large trailer across from the cemetery. They will relieve another unit that has been standing watch and begin a four-hour shift.

No liquor is allowed at the trailer; everyone who participates must be dedicated to the cause and give it full concentration. Majeski and Spiker take the first 15-minute shift. They march to the gates of the cemetery and give it full concentration.

Majeski and Spiker stand with rifles at a 45-degree angle from the ground. They stand motionless for 15 minutes.

But there were times when these men didn't stand still. They can remember every hill they climbed and every battle they fought.

And a memory they can't shake is their knowledge that soldiers still haven't come home from a war that they call "all political."

"There are still 104 soldiers missing from Illinois alone," said Straton. "And even though we didn't receive a welcome home when we came back, they were still out from us someday."

The vigil team's struggle to bring POWs and MIAs home may be a long one. But the members intend to spend their spare time standing vigil in hopes that one day they can throw a welcome home party for them.

It is something they never had.

"I remember coming into the Chicago airport and sitting with a couple of my friends," said Spiker of his return from 18 months in Vietnam. "A group of hippies came up to us and asked if we were in the war."

"We said 'Yes' and one of them called me a baby-killer and spit in my face. That is something that will never wash off. Twenty years down the road and I can forget the horror that I went through, but I was no baby-killer."

"I was doing a job for my country, and that was how I got repaid."

Each member of the team has a story to tell that is as awful as Spiker's.

Members of the team say the welcome-home celebrations Vietnam veterans have enjoyed in the past few years have been nice. But the celebrations came 20 years too late for those who already had made difficult readjustments to civilian life, and had dealt with their nightmares and their frustration with finding no work.

"Maybe the people finally realized that we were only doing our jobs," said Hays of Madison.

Last June the city of Chicago threw a Welcome Home celebration for Vietnam vets. And that was the first real welcome home we got.

"Now, people have become educated on the war and all that was involved. But we went through hell coming out of the jungle and back to the streets. It really wasn't too late, but we couldn't use the support when we arrived on American soil."

"Our goal now is to make people aware of those still missing," Straton of Granite City said.

"We want them home. And this war won't end until the soldier buried in the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier can be identified."

Federal building to be renovated

The U.S. General Services Administration has announced that requests for proposals are being solicited from business concerns for renovation and rehabilitation of the Federal Building and U.S. Courthouse, 750 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis.

The project consists of providing all labor, materials and equipment necessary to renovate the building.

The scope of work includes single ply and slate roofing, windows, elevators upgrading, installing a new ventilating system and boiler, plumbing, a new sprinkler system, an electrical system and lights, asbestos removal, marble and terrazzo flooring, steel monumental stairs and balcony, architectural woodwork, historic plaster restoration, carpeting and tile, painting and finishing work.

The estimated cost range is between $2.5 million and $5 million.

Plans and specifications may be obtained by writing or calling, GSA, Design and Construction Contracts Branch, Room 3540, Mail Stop 35-2, John C. Kluczynski Federal Building, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60604, (312-886-6934).

Offers for request for proposal, GS05P8GB0114, will be received until 4 p.m., May 31 at the Chicago address. Offers will be opened in private.

Volunteers sought to aid Alzheimer victims

The Senior Companion Program of Belleville Area College is working in conjunction with the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association of St. Louis to provide help to family caregivers of people who have been diagnosed as having Alzheimer's Disease.

Senior Companions volunteer four hours a day in homes of people who are homebound to give the caregiver time to attend to needs outside the home. They receive a stipend for their volunteer services, as well as reimbursement for meals and transportation.

A training session will be held in June to provide specialized training for those interested in understanding the illness and providing a much needed community service.

Those who are 60 years of age or older and are on a low income can call 876-3223 for more information.

Young people between the ages of 14 and 20 are invited to go to a recruitment meeting for a new Sea Explorer unit.

Diana and Bill Kinder, the founders, are looking for high-school-age boys and girls who enjoy swimming, canoeing and sailing. The Fraternal Order of Eagles has agreed to sponsor the group.

Sea Explorer units are called "ships," and their adult advisor is called a "skipper." Sea Explorer Ship "Eagle" will be a co-ed group. Skipper Diana Kinder said.

In addition to many other water-related activities, the Eagle ship will promote water safety and training for recreation.

ational boating.

In addition to youth members, the group also looking for adult resource persons.

The Eagle ship will hold a recruitment meeting from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, May 26, in Fellowship Hall at Namewash Methodist Church, 1700 Pontoon Road. All interested young people and adults may attend.

There will be information about the Sea Explorer program, introduction of the skipper and ship advisory committee, entertainment and refreshments.

Further information is available by calling Diana or Bill Kinder at 876-5007.

Piasa administers anti-drug program for area children

Beginning Addictions Basic Education Studies is one of the many drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs administered through Piasa Health Care of Madison County.

This program uses puppets, stories and songs to teach and gain the attention of the targeted audience of kindergarten through third grade students.

One such presentation has been made this spring at the Venice Elementary School.

Seven one-hour lessons, including programs on self-concept, peer pressure, coping skills, drug information, getting help and the impact of chemical dependency on families, are illustrated by characters such as Rhonda Rabbit, Donovan Dignity and Recovering Reggie.

The information is presented in a simple and easy format that the children can comprehend, a school spokesman said.

United Way funding has helped to bring the program to 63 children at 10 schools in the Quad City area.

Sharon McBrien, one of Piasa's prevention specialists, said, "Prevention through education is the most effective tool we have to alleviate drug and alcohol abuse in our society."

Venice High School accreditation renewed

Venice High School's North Central Association accreditation has been extended through the 1987-88 school year.

Accreditation is for one year at a time and must be renewed annually.

The North Central Association, founded in 1895, is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies. It is a voluntary organization of 6,200 schools and 900 colleges and universities in 19 states, plus the Department of Defense Dependent Schools throughout the world; 667 schools are accredited in Illinois.

"I couldn't believe it. A bank that has enough confidence in their service to guarantee it."

"Basically, the Magna guarantee makes sure I'm happy."

"If I have a problem, I go into the bank and discuss it with them and get $5 for my trouble."

"They're willing to put their money where their mouth is."

At Magna, we're on your side.

We want you to be satisfied with our service at Magna. That's why we've put together our Guaranteed Service program. Now, whenever you have a problem, whether it be a mistake on your account, poor service or anything else, we want to hear about it. We'll even give you $5 for your effort.

All you have to do is fill out our brief

Guaranteed Service form, bring it into the bank and discuss the problem with our Quality Service Representative. Then we'll pay you $5.

Magna Guaranteed Service forms will be mailed to all of our customers. They're also available at each of our banks. We're determined to give you the best service possible. Because at Magna, we're on your side. We guarantee it.

Knights

Maronite devotion planned

A celebration of the Solemn Pontifical Maronite Liturgy in honor of Mary will be held at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 4.

The Most Rev. Robert J. Shaheen, archbishop, St. Raymond's Catholic Church, St. Louis, will preside. A 25-member Maronite Choir from St. Louis will present the music.

Following the liturgy, a Mari-an devotion will be celebrated, which will include prayers before the icon of Mary, a short procession and blessing. A brief cultural presentation will close the evening.

For more information, call the Shrine, 397-6700.

Tent 92 attends Lincoln service

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, 1861-1865 Tent 92, held a monthly luncheon and business meeting April 28 at Jerry's Cafeteria.

Peggy Gibbons gave a report on the 32nd annual Lincoln Tomb Ceremony, commemorating the 123rd anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln.

Held in Springfield on April 15, the service was conducted by the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Assisting were the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States and the Lincoln Death Day Association Inc.

Attending the service from Granite City with Gibbons were Joyce Moran, Louise Thompson, Enid Bolin, Bessie Seibold, Mary Stonum, Evelyn Ringering and Dorothy Swiatek.

At the luncheon meeting, the business segment was conducted by Moran and the opening prayer was given by Irma Taylor. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Patriotic Instructor Edna Beckman.

Reading of the records was by Secretary Bolin and Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

Mary Stonum was initiated into the order.

After the meeting, games were played under the direction of Moran. A special prize was awarded to Thompson. Hostess for the day was Bolin.

Others attending were: Arline Fox, Florence Hildebrand and Vivian Rowden.

Frohardt Cub Pack 22 holds first 'Space Derby' program

Cub Pack 22, sponsored by Frohardt School PTA, met in April at the school gymnasium to hold its first Space Derby program.

Committee Chairman Fred San Soucie asked Den 7 to present the colors.

San Soucie presented awards to Den 1's Matt Grable, who received his Bear Badge, and belt loops to badminton to Cale Becker, Timmy Harris, Bobby Ellis, David Martin, Zack Suhr and Matt Grable.

Den 2's Dennis Beasley received Bobcat and Bear badges.

Den 5's Todd Courtright received Bobcat and Bear Badge.

In Den 7, Brett Downs received two Silver Arrows and Douglas Mueller received one.

Silver Arrow. Tim Severine announced the Space Derby winners in each Den: Den 1, Harris; Den 2, Beasley; Den 3, Kevin Lee; Den 4, Randy Wisler; Den 5, Chris Langley; Den 6, Jason Forsgoun; Den 7, Mueller; and Den 8, Todd Ables.

Den 6's Forsgoun took first-place overall. Den 5's Chris Langley took second. Den 1's Harris took third. The prize for best-looking space rocket went to Jerret Bagi, of Den 2.

San Soucie announced the coming events: May 30, Shriner's Parade; June 13-15, day camp at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville; and July 6-9, Webelos camp at Camp Sunnen.

Refreshments were served by Den 1.

We're Sorry!

In this week's Sale circular, we advertised Conair Fashion Plates on page 8 for 12.99 after 85¢ mail-in rebate, sale 17.99. Due to manufacturer's inability to ship, the merchandise will not be available until later in the week. Rain checks will be given.

On page 10 we advertised a Dynamark 5 HP self-propelled lawn mower on sale for 249.99. Due to a photography error, the lawn mower with electric start pictured is not the sale merchandise. The Dynamark 5 HP self-propelled mower without electric start should have been shown.

On page 10 we advertised Cobra Traphotator radar detector on sale for 97.99 on page 19. Due to a photography error, the micro-sized radar detector shown will not be on sale. The full-size Cobra Traphotator radar detector will be available, reg. 119.99, sale 97.99.

We regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

Village wants water line extended (Continued from Page 1A)

At the village board's May 10 meeting, officials said the water company about 15 months ago quoted a price of $18,000 to install a 12-inch line. More recently, Illinois-American said an eight-inch line for the same distance would cost $49,900 to install, it was related.

American official, an Illinois-American official, recalled Friday the cost of the initial water line proposal was $36,000, with the village and his company splitting the amount. No funds for the project were allocated by the utility firm the following year, he said.

Jackson, who was transferred to other duties about 15 months ago, said he wasn't sure what the project costs would be at this time, but the $49,900 figure seemed high, he said.

•Diak

The Becker's objections, was granted a continuance and another hearing was scheduled for May 12.

Ferguson said there was at least sufficient evidence for the complaint against the city and that the likelihood of the evidence being true or false was not the issue.

"For the court, Mr. Diak agreed to stay suspended until the injunction issue was resolved and until the court rules whether there was an enforceable settlement," Ferguson said. "Based upon that, I see no prejudice that would come about to any of the parties because of the delay."

Ferguson had Becker waive, on the record, any and all right

"We are interested in getting water out there and we will be glad to sit down with the village officials and talk this over," he said.

Illinois-American is "very interested" in any project which helps economic development and Jackson expects to become more involved in this aspect in the future, he said.

At the meeting, Jensen said he considers the cost ($49,900) quoted for the line as "outrageously high" and recommended the village "buy the pipe and have the township put it in for us."

Lee Adams, Namekichi Township highway commissioner, also questioned the price quoted by Illinois-American, saying he could buy the same pipe for $12,500.

Jensen said that in recent talks with Maryville and Glen Carbon officials, which have had similar projects, he learned their cost of installing a water line was $13 a foot, and $38 per foot to install sewer line. Due to what he described as lack of cooperation by the water company, it may be necessary to expand the Pontoon Beach Water District to include the new area, or create another water district to provide service, Jensen said.

Another possibility is for the village to buy water from another municipality, with the village retaining ownership of the water line, he said.

Jensen was authorized to spend 10 hours researching legal questions and feasibility of the proposal.

The village is served by the Pontoon Beach Water District and by Illinois-American Water Co., with water purchased from the latter.

Glen Carbon has water lines already installed on Illinois 162, west of Illinois 157, where a water holding area also is located, Adams said.

the injunction and that the testimony transcript was not yet available. Further, he said one witness was not available.

"If we were to proceed today a great duplication of effort would occur when we come back for the full trial," Ferguson said.

Ferguson said there was at least sufficient evidence for the complaint against the city and that the likelihood of the evidence being true or false was not the issue.

"For the court, Mr. Diak agreed to stay suspended until the injunction issue was resolved and until the court rules whether there was an enforceable settlement," Ferguson said. "Based upon that, I see no prejudice that would come about to any of the parties because of the delay."

Ferguson had Becker waive, on the record, any and all right to "use in appeal those delays attributable to the defense. The general rule is that a case must be heard within 30 days."

Becker and Hopkins expressed no objections to the delay. Thomas E. Hildebrand, attorney for the Fire and Police board, objected because, he said, there could have been a binding agreement made and the board wanted its jurisdiction returned.

Astorian thinks the purported settlement is inadequate for at least $100,000. He said he would on-duty officer driving a police car many miles from the city, into another county. Lights flashing, the allegedly speeding vehicle was halted by Grafton police, who filed no charge.

Rumors that the trip might have been taken in a kind of competition with other officers were declared untrue by the chief, who said mileage and fuel records show no similar occurrence.

Mediation

Mediation to start for city, employees

The last negotiation meeting, Sharon Perjak wanted to ask a question and Hanke wouldn't let her.

"We've been told privately by several aldermen to get it on the council floor and they'll vote for us, but he won't bring it up."

Monday's meeting, to be held in the mayor's conference room, is open to members of the union local and members of the City Council.

Big names galore in summer movies

By Harry Hammett
Staff affiliate

This summer at the movies will be good in two respects: numbers and names.

There will be about 100 pictures released from mid-May to Labor Day, only a handful of which will be hits or receive universally favorable views. There also will be a generous supply of usually bankable, box-office names who have major films bowing.

The list of performers is heavily weighted on the male side of the ledger, which is usually the case, and includes Clint Eastwood, Tom Cruise, Paul Hogan, Sylvester Stallone, Robert DeNiro, Dudley Moore, Richard Dreyfuss, Bruce Willis, Burt Reynolds, James Caan, Tom Hanks, Jeff Bridges, Sean Connery, James Garner, Chevy Chase, John Candy, Dan Aykroyd and Hollywood's hottest draw, Eddie Murphy.

On the distaff side, the list is smaller but no less impressive: Lily Tomlin, Bette Midler, Shelly Long, Liza Minnelli, Dyan Cannon, Christine Lahti, Susan Sarandon, Barbara Hershey and Debra Winger.

If you like sequels, you will love what is ahead. The list of repeats includes "Rambo III," "Crocodile Dundee II," "Caddyshack II," "Short Circuit II," "Arthur on the Rocks," "The Dead Pool" (the fifth movie in the "Dirty Harry" series), "Big Top Pee-Wee," "Critters II," "Angel III," "Poltergeist III," "Nightmare On Elm Street IV," "Friday the 13th Part VII: The New Blood" and "Fly II: The Insect Awakens."

That last title poses a real credibility problem. The last time we saw "The Fly," played by Jeff Goldblum, he had just exploded. How does anything, including an insect, return from being blown to bits?

As usual, some producers have tried to slip their pictures out early, in the hope of getting a head start at the box office. Two prominent examples are Blake Edwards' "Sunset," and Joe Piscopo and Treat Williams in "Dead Heat."

Both films have bombed. Speaking of bombs, there will be the usual collection of "junk" cinema that summer movies made cheaply in the hopes of a couple of quick but mildly healthy weeks on the major exhibitor circuit. Then they have a fast exit to where they really belong, late-night cable and home video. Some of those titles are "Bloody Pon-

Pons," "Earth Girls Are Easy," "Barbarian Queen II," "Elvira, Mistress of the Dark" and "Two Idiots in Hollywood."

What are going to be this summer's biggest successes? Here are my picks for box-office breakers, (no particular order), which are based mostly on past performances, star value, casting, current studio marketing strategies and a rabbit who lives in my backyard and has an amazing way of sniffing out a hit.

"Crocodile Dundee II": Hogan has a most endearing, entertaining manner on the screen. As in his first major motion picture, he should charm American audiences again, perhaps not as successfully as the first film, but enough to put him near the top.

"Evil Angels": Meryl Streep will star in the movie, based on a true occurrence in Australia, about a mother who is accused of murdering her infant daughter. The script has the stuff of another Oscar nomination for Streep and the film could become one of the summer's stronger dramatic hits.

"Presidio": Oscar winner Sean Connery plays a military investigator who teams with San Francisco cop Mark Harmon in a criminal investigation set against the city's Presidio military compound. Meg Ryan plays Connery's daughter. The only quibble is that "Presidio" was scripted by Larry Ferguson, whose last screenplay was "Beverly Hills Cop II."

"Big Top Pee-Wee": Who cares about reviews? Pee-Wee Herman may be the only film star whose films are shown at theaters with a Pampers concession. But somehow, his appeal is a boom, baby.

"Big Business": Midler and Tomlin star as twins (each has two roles) who get mistakenly mismatched at birth and end up becoming a quiresome quartet in New York and down on the farm. The talent is there. The script sounds good. However, based on the trailers I've seen it may be a bit too "busy" as a comedy. Nonetheless, it looks good on the surface and Touchstone knows how to market a movie with a questionable premise. Remember "Three Men and A Cradle?"

"Red Heat": Arnold Schwarzenegger. What more do you need?

"Bambi": In this case, a babe in the woods means money in the bank.

"Coming to America": Mur-

SYLVESTER STALLONE returns in 'Rambo III.'

phy plays an African prince who comes to the United States to find a bride. Instant hit.

What about the surprises? Those are the most difficult to predict. In fact, anyone with a good batting average in this category could become a Hollywood studio executive overnight. But here are some titles with possibilities: "Collision Course," starring Jay Leno and Pat Morita; "Midnight Run," with DeNiro; "Big Country," headlining Candy and Aykroyd; "Blood Relations," with Robert Stack; "Cocktail," starring Cruise; "Everybody's All-American," with Dennis Hutton and Jessica Lange; "A Fish Called Wanda," starring Kevin Kline and Jamie Lee Curtis (written and directed by John Cleese); and "High Spirits," with Peter O'Toole, Steve Guttenberg and Daryl Hannah.

In the category of bad news, three major titles already are looming as major problems: "Rambo III," a film that cost more than $40 million to make and will have to book about $80 million just to break even; George Lucas' mythical adventure "Willow," a motion picture with a genre that is not hot and a target audience that is somewhere between 10-years-old and missing; and "Arthur On The Rocks," a movie that may prove the world no longer winks at lovable drunks.

So much for second-guessing. I'm looking forward to this summer at the movies. Something tells me there will be some dandy films to see. We already know there is an unusual amount of variety.

Ozzie Smith plans own sports eatery

The Wizard has something new up his sleeve.

Best known as a sure-handed shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals, Ozzie Smith is working with local restaurateurs and developers on a new sports eatery that will bear his name.

Ozzie Smith's will open this fall in West Port Plaza.

"The restaurant was Ozzie's idea, but he wanted to make sure he assembled a crack team to operate the facility," said Kevin Farrell, president of the White Co., developers of West Port.

The field of players includes Ray Gallardo and Pat Hannon, both restaurant owners, and Tom White, owner of the White Co., Farrell said.

The key to the new restaurant is a wholesome atmosphere, he said.

"Ozzie is committed to creating a family atmosphere. The casual feel and traditional American cuisine will suit everyone from families to couples to singles," he said.

Specialty items requested by Smith and his wife, Denise, also will be included on the menu, Farrell said.

"This is not going to be a white-linen type of establishment," he said.

Although Smith will rely on others for day-to-day management, he will take a hands-on approach to the business, Farrell said.

"Ozzie is a professional, and he has sought the help of other professionals to run his restaurant," he said. "It is definitely Ozzie Smith's show."

Zoo friends make film available

The St. Louis Zoo Friends Association has produced a 25-minute film "St. Louis Zoo ... The Tradition Continues," which is available at no charge to civic, business and social organizations.

The documentary explores the zoo's heritage, present world-class status and its plans for future development. The film also provides facts and information about animals.

The film is a presentation of the St. Louis Zoo Speakers Bureau, a committee of the Friends Association. A speaker accompanies the film to answer questions about the zoo and its programs.

For those interested in the film, call Sandy Starr at the Zoo Friends Association, 647-8210.

Girls survive scare
in sectional opener

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It had to be a deja vu for Gene Baker. And he won't mind it that expectation continues right through the weekend.

Last fall, Baker's boys team was given a mighty scare by Alton — a heavy underdog — on the Warriors' way to the state title. Granite City rallied late to win the game and won in overtime, 2-1.

On Thursday, Baker's girls had to battle for all 80 minutes to pull out a 2-1 win over another big underdog, Sacred Heart Academy of Springfield. If the Lady Warriors can now go on to win it all as the boys did, they can relax and look back to how close they might have come to throwing it all away in the opener.

"We made things interesting," Baker said. "We have a habit of doing that. They only had two shots and scored on one of them. We've had games like this before."

The Lady Warriors peppered 24 shots at the other end, but Blazer keeper Lisa Schaefer perhaps the best goalie in the state — was equal to the task for the most part. Jennifer Debevec finally got the winner with just a minute left in the third quarter on a penalty kick. Debevec, who has been named the top player on the all-sectional team, was pulled down while moving in from the right side of the penalty area just a minute after Schaefer had stopped her from point-blank range.

Schaefer then got a hand on the penalty kick, which slid in just to her left.

"It was a well-deserved goal," Baker said. "The goalie made a little on it. But she really is a great keeper. We should have had five goals in the first quarter."

As it was, the Warriors got one when Ann Krystopa slid a nice shot just inside the right post at 8:00 mark. If Granite City thought it would be easy then, they were mistaken.

Although the Blazers had a 2-1 record this season, they stayed close and the Warriors didn't have a lot of room to operate. Granite City had eight corner kicks, but failed to capitalize.

They were burned by the Blazers with four minutes left in the third quarter as Sally Paul beat the Warriors to a loose ball and moved in on keeper Addie Lenzi. Lenzi got her hands on Paul's high blast, but the ball went through her hands and bounced across the line.

"As the game went on, the pressure built on us and they (Blazers) were feeling a little more confident," Baker said. "We shouldn't have felt it was going to be easy because I kept telling them it wouldn't be like that. A better team would have beaten us today."

After Paul's tying goal, Debevec had her good chance, then her goal. The Warriors had the better of the play in the fourth quarter and never allowed the Blazers a good chance to even the score.

NOTES: The Lady Warriors moved on to play Peoria Spalding — a 3-2 winner over Alton on Thursday — in the sectional semifinal at Collinsville's Football Bowl on Saturday. Collinsville topped Metro East Lutheran 6-1 on Thursday and faced O'Fallon in the second semifinal game. The Panthers, coached by Dave Ames, beat Peoria Bergan

Athletic programs
at GCC eliminated

By Rick Arnold
and Dave Whaley

BELLEVILLE — There will be no more varsity sports at Granite City Campus.

The Board of Trustees voted Wednesday night to eliminate the athletic program at GCC and to adopt a single athletic charter for the community college district.

Under NJCAA rules, a college district operating under one athletic charter cannot have teams competing in the same sport at two different campuses, said Jay Harrington, the athletic director at the Belleville campus.

The board vote was 4-3, with board chairman Elizabeth Jenner and trustees Kay Bennett, Robert Dintelman and Van Smith voting to abolish athletics at GCC while trustees Ted Farmer, Larry Reineck and Dan Wolford voted against the measure. The vote followed about 30 minutes of board discussion.

Farmer and Reineck both said they felt GCC students were being unjustly punished. "The bottom line (of athletics) is self-esteem," Farmer said. "I think we should add, not cut, programs. I think it's a shame we're even considering it."

"That campus needs to have something it can call its own," Reineck said. "Are we going to keep taking things away because they're not successful training?"

GCC athletic director Terry Collins had said Wednesday afternoon he would be disappointed from a personal standpoint if the athletic program was dropped, but that he could understand the board's decision from an administrative standpoint.

Collins said "his phone had not been ringing off the hook" over the proposal to drop athletics at GCC.

The board's action means GCC's soccer and wrestling teams will be moved to the Belleville campus. GCC's men's and women's basketball teams and the women's volleyball team will be eliminated since similar teams already exist at the Belleville campus.

Collins plans to remain as the director of student activities and intramurals at GCC. Soccer coach Larry Petri will likely remain in that position at the Belleville campus. Wrestling coach Alan Gramer has another job in Granite City and may or may not continue as coach at Belleville. Women's basketball and volleyball coach Mary Begley was planning to go back to school and would not have been coaching next year anyway, Collins said.

In making its decision, the board adopted the recommendation of an athletic committee comprised of administrators and faculty members who had voted 7-1 at a meeting last week to drop athletics at GCC. Harrington cast the only dissenting vote.

Dr. Wayne Clark, president of the Belleville campus, said the committee made its decision for five main reasons, including the fact the GCC teams were not being funded at a competitive level and the feeling that GCC athletes were not getting the proper academic training.

Interim Chancellor B.J. Davis was quick to point out, however, that GCC students were not receiving a subpar education.

"I would not want to leave the impression that the level of education is anything less than quality," he said.

Clark also said the elimination of athletics at GCC could save the college as much as $25,000.

Turner makes state finals in 100; three Trojanette
relay teams also advance

CHARLESTON — The Madison Trojanettes qualified three of their four relay teams plus Vivian Turner for Saturday's state finals in preliminary action Friday in the Illinois Girls Class A state track meet.

Turner took second in her preliminary race with a time of 12.6 seconds in the 100 meters and then was second in the semifinals with a 12.7 to make the finals. Nicola Moore of Georgetown Ridge Farm edged Turner in both races.

The 400 relay team of Sheila Marshall, LaGiorgia Marshall, Turner and Katrina Garrett took second in its heat with a time of 49.7 to make the finals. The 800 relay team (same quartet) had the fastest qualifying time of the preliminaries with a 1:46.15. The 800 medley team of the Marshalls, Sharon Browley and Melissa Davenport was second in its heat and fifth overall with a time of 1:52.7 to qualify for the finals.

Davenport was scratched from the 400 meters and did not qualify for the finals.

Complete results of the finals as well as results of Granite City's Wendy Knollman in the long jump and 400 meter competition at Wednesday's Journal.

Leonard, Smith, 3 relay teams on to state; Darnell qualifies

RED BUD — Led by double-winner Ian Smith — who qualified for state in three events — Madison easily won its second consecutive sectional track meet on Friday.

The Trojans qualified two individuals and three relay teams in a total of seven events for the Class A state finals in Charleston next weekend.

Madison tallied 40 points to edge Sparta, which scored 29 points. Sesser-Valier was third with 25 points and Greenville was fourth with 25.

Leading the way for the Trojans was Smith, who won the 200 meters in 22.0 seconds and the 400 in 48.5, breaking a 10-year-old track record. The junior, who won a state title in the 400 last year, also took second in the 100 with a time of 11.0 to qualify for state in that event. Smith also anchored the winning 400 relay team.

Jessie Leonard also qualified for state by winning the long jump with a leap of 22-11 1/2. Leonard was also on the winning 800 and 400 relay teams.

In addition to Leonard and Smith, Quincy Williams and Jason Briggs put in brilliant times to help the 400 relay team win with a time of 43.2. The 800 team of Leonard, Briggs, Williams and Kenny Griggs finished second to Greenville (1:31) with a time of 1:32.

The third Trojan relay team to qualify for state was the 1600 consisting of Williams, Briggs, Marvin Gates and James Whitehead. They took second with a time of 3:28.3. Wesclia won in 3:23.6.

Class AA Sectional Darnell qualifies
As expected, Vince Darnell qualified for state by winning the high jump competition at the Class AA Sectional at Belleville on Friday.

Darnell was the only Warrior to qualify for state. The senior had a jump of 6-3 to win. That event. The Warriors finished the meet with 10 points, good for seventh place in a field of 13 teams.

East St. Louis won the meet with 78 points as the Flyers won all four relay events. In all, East Side qualified athletes in 10 events. East St. Louis Lincoln won with 60 points as the Tigers showed their strength in the field events. Alton was third with 54 points.

Lady Warriors no-hit by Rhoda

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — So what's a couple of errors when your pitcher allows only five hits and the opposition can only scrape together three unearned runs? Well, it's more than enough to beat you when you don't get any hits. That was what happened to the Warrior softball team in its regular-season finale against Cahokia on Friday.

The Comanches (15-9) weren't overwhelming on offense, but pitcher Anissa Rhoda was just that as she blanked the Warriors in both the runs and hits column. The 3-0 loss ended the Warriors' regular season at 8-14.

It was a fitting end to a season in which coach Jim Davis thought his team would be able to score runs. They did — against certain teams. Combining the season-opening 16-1 win over Wood River with two games each against Southwestern Conference doormats Alton and East St. Louis, Granite City scored 84 runs in those five games.

But they managed only 39 runs in their other 17 games combined. All together, they scored 123 runs in 22 games, or 5.6 per game. But take away those five routs and not much was left when the Warriors faced stronger competition. They were shut out six times, and they will be up against a tough pitcher in Angie Gebhard when they travel to Collinsville for the regional opener on Thursday.

While Rhoda was giving the Warriors only four walks — and two of those runners were thrown out stealing by Comanche catcher Kathryn Stanka — Granite City was handing Cahokia its three runs.

Missie Osis drew a walk from Tammy LeVault with one out in the second. She was sacrificed to second by Tammy Frewitt. With runners at first and third with two out, the runner at first was going on a 3-2 pitch. Carrie Young walked, but catcher Michelle Bequette threw down to second anyway and the ball went into center field as Osis scored.

In the third, LeVault dropped a pop fly from Rhoda right behind the pitcher's mound as one of the infielders called her off the ball. Shirley Brockmeier forced Rhoda, then went to third on Stanka's hit. Left fielder Mindy Host's throw to third was wild and Brockmeier scored.

Stanka ended up at second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Osis's hit.

The generous defense was all the opening the Comanches needed with Rhoda on the mound. If the Warriors thought they had seen the end of tough pitching from Cahokia with the graduation of Sharon Coleman, they were mistaken.

Rhoda walked Bequette and Jennifer Cavaness in the second, but both were eliminated by Stanka. Kathy Lewis drew a two-out walk in the third and Bequette did the same in the fourth. But Rhoda ended both frames with strikeouts.

In all, she fanned 10 and only two fly balls left the infield. The Comanches, meanwhile, were flawless on defense.
